I. General Guidelines

The South Dakota School of Mines & Technology (SDSM&T) naming policy upholds the mission and reputation of the university. Deliberate consideration is given to the naming of facilities, programs, and funded academic honors in order to maintain equity and consistency, and suitably recognize donors and honorees.

As stated in that policy, “[t]he Board [of Regents] shall approve the names of all new or existing campus facilities, such as roadways and buildings and additions (if they are to carry a different name from the original building), costing more than $250,000. It shall also approve the naming of programmatic units such as colleges, schools, institutes, centers or departments. 4. If a program is discontinued during the donor’s lifetime, the Named Academic Honors within it may be amended with mutual written consent of the donors, the university and the Foundation. If at any time it becomes impossible, impractical, or illegal to satisfy the original intent of the agreement, the university’s president, in consultation with the Foundation board of directors, will designate an alternative application of the gift that most closely honors the donor’s original intent.

C. Perpetual Naming

1. An approved name supported by an endowment shall be considered perpetual.
