Broken down by class with good responses • Senator Lannerd: General consensus, switching to Canvas doesn’t justify the learning curve required. • CFO Quizon: From what I heard; Canvas is better than D2L. People won’t have a harder time learning Canvas • Senator Kessinger: I’ve Had both Canvas and D2L graduate students I’ve talked to would rather stay with the current software. • Senator Else: I talked to my constants; we’re only here another year switching would not be beneficial. • Senator Higgins: I use Canvas for military things, trying to switch over to canvas would be difficult for the instructors, there would be less growing pains by staying with D2l. Are there more benefits to using Canvas compared to D2l? <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ President Marshall: there are a few benefits for instructors, on students’ side it’s easier to find grades, but other than that there’s not much else. ○ Senator Kessinger: The grade projection only works if the professors correctly do the backend. 	President Marshall
