Are you a kinesthetic or a visual learner? Do you like looking at the bigger picture or envisioning how smaller parts add up? Different ways of thinking can influence how you learn, and knowing exactly how you tick can help you strategize how to study and excel.

Three different faculty with different learning styles will teach you tips and tricks for adapting your specific learning style to different classes. Join Drs. Shaobo Huang, Dan Dolan, and Deb Bienert for this interactive workshop.

4-5 p.m. Thursday, October 13
Classroom Building, room 203
